No, I don't think we should or can amend the press release.

The documents they submitted to the federal government claim 128, not 8. While many organizations do not have accurate recordkeeping I'm still going to go off records submitted to the DOL over something someone verbally told you, Steve. In any case, the press release has already gone out. If we receive follow-ups we can discuss that with those people.

These are in a program at the Ballard locks which will be phased out by 2019. We should amend the press release to name 8 rather than 128 sub minimum wage employees
